Clearing the Air

A rotten situation which has long been brewing on this campus has finally come to a head this week. It is unfortunate that rumors are allowed to go unchecked for then they grow beyond all normal proportions and it is the more difficult to separate the truth from the mass of lies, allegations and insinuations. The case presented today is all the more difficult for it involves a religious club which has somewhat extended its bounds to the realm of politics and which has involved the Students Executive Council by implication. The British United Press dispatch which precipitated the Daily Worker of Tuesday morning at the same time mentioned that the Newman Club was being cited to appear before the Council supposedly to answer for the anti-Communist remarks of a guest speaker.

Unfortunately, the facts of this dispatch as well as some of the facts of the Club president's statement to the Council which appears on page one of today's issue have been somewhat distorted, and put the Council in a poor light, albeit falsely. The implication of the dispatch was that the Council was summoning Mr. Hemens to castigate him for allowing a guest speaker to damn Communists on the campus. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The speaker alleged that the McGill NCFUS delegation was Communist, a definite slander against those members which included the President of the Students Society, and two Council members. The Council sought to check the rumor from spreading and invited Mr. Hemens, who had already signified a desire to discuss the matter with the Council, to do so. The day of the meeting, the B.U.P. dispatch appeared. After the discussion with the Council, which had been very sympathetic to Mr. Hemens' position, the latter presented the statement which is printed on the front page and which claimed a smear campaign against the Newman Club. The statement also took the Council to task for "summoning" Mr. Hemens to appear before it and also for listening to rumors and of acting on them, which it obviously must do as the governing body on the campus. At the same time the statement was released to the press further putting the Council in the false light of being opposed to anything which is opposed to Communism.

As a result, the Council has decided to lay all the facts of the case before the student body to allow everyone to weigh the evidence and to draw their own conclusions. It should be evident that the Council at no time encroached on the freedom of speech of any campus club nor has it at any time taken the offensive in a campaign against the Newman Club, which, on the contrary, continued to take action provocative to the Council.

Here the matter rests. Much ado has been made of a matter which could have been easily and quickly settled. We hope that the political views of our NCFUS delegation is clear to everyone. We hope again that the actions of the Council in making all this public is taken in a proper perspective of clearing the air once and for all. And we suggest that the Newman Club in future remain what it originally was intended to be—a religious club, not concerned with running the affairs of the Students Society—a task which the Students Executive Council has well handled to date.

Translated Quickly From the French

by J.H.P.

LA NATATION

The campaign of it is some months now for the improvement of Montreal morals has occasioned notorious changes in the designs of costumes of bath. The article following is translated rapidly from the French. People could read it in the number of "Le Quartier Latin" that made its apparition the 28th of January.

The swim and the bath are sports very appreciated, but for some reasons that the reason comprehends not at all, some difficulties arise themselves often. In the margin of these considerations, let us read some little one article appeared the year last in "La Clalron", the journal of Saint Hyacinthe.

SWADDLES OF BATH PREHISTORICAL

It appears that the League Feminine of Purity, recently reunited in a hotel fashionable of Montreal, decided unanimously to participate in the country of Morality public by bearing the war to the she-bathers of our beaches popular. Certain parts of the resolution adopted at that effect were so worded: "Expected that the body feminine is composed of parts honest, of parts less honest, and of parts ill-honest, following the definition of l'abbé Germain;

"Expected that as, in the practice modern, the young girls well done dare not veil the parts less honest, in reason of the exiguity of the swaddle of bath, the container being much inferior in area to the contents;

"Expected that since some thousands of young men find, at the view of such a one spectacle, an approaching occasion of sin;

"That it be resolved that a committee be formed in conformity to throw a fashion of swaddle more in conformity with the laws of decency and bashfulness."

People proceeded immediately to the foundations of the committee. A memberess of the League, of age canonical and of dimensions imposing, arose herself and said:

"I have one experience, complete enough, of the practice of the bath. I even have taken at least a dozen in my youthfulness. The last dates of twenty years ago at sorrow. I was covered by a robe of night that descended upon me until the ankle. Well malign the man who might have disclosed on top of my person the least sign of perdition. God thank you, it has never arrived to me to make no one sin. The young girls of our days should make of same."

One other memberess gave her opinion in the same sense. She proposed that the famous robe of night be reproduced by the committee and be confectioned in quantity for the grand commerce.

The idea was received by applause prolonged. The new "robe of bath" will be soon put in sale at the house of Morgan, Dupuis, Eaton, Simpson, Ogilvie and other houses respectable. The League has made patented its invention, in the goal of appropriating the commerce of the States United. The she-president has of same taken the initiative, for ends of announcements, of addressing one to Betty Grable. She has also demanded to "Life" magazine suddenly become Catholic by continuation of the conversion of Madame Louise, of publishing well soon a cover girl in the Sinproof bathing suit.

The Daily Meets

DR. HOO-CHI-SAI

By Art Mathewson

On Tuesday evening we were lucky enough to meet Dr. Hoo-Chi-Sai, one of the leading men in China's foreign service today. Dr. Hoo was speaking before a meeting of prominent Montreal citizens. Dr. Hoo did not follow the pattern for diplomats that we had conjured up in our minds. Instead of being tall, serious and rather aloof as we had expected, we found him of medium height, completely natural and with a ready smile. Only in his eyes could we see the spark of brilliance which has earned for him a Ph. D. and the position of great honor and responsibility which he now holds. Dr. Hoo is certainly a diplomat of the highest order. We were intent on interviewing him with an eye to obtaining a sketch of his life. His charming manner put us so completely at our ease, however, that after we left him, we realized that he now knows far more about us than we know about him. From what we were able to gather from him and his friends, however, it was possible to put together an outline of what is a fascinating life.

Dr. Hoo was born in Washington, where his father was Chinese ambassador. There he learned English and picked up the occidental name "Victor" which has remained with him ever since. Later when his father was moved to a diplomatic post in Russia, young Victor Hoo went along. In St. Petersburg, capital of Czarist Russia, he grew up, and so added Russian to his growing store of languages. His university career had for location Paris, where he studied at the Sorbonne and at L'ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques, under the distinguished French scholar and authority on Canada, Prof. Andre Siegfried. There, while earning his doctor's degree, he seems to have found time also to become amateur boxing champion of Paris.

From France Dr. Hoo returned to China, where he immediately entered diplomatic service. He has served his country in the capacity of a representative in foreign countries ever since.

After service in many of the capitals of Europe, he was given the responsibility of handling China's affairs at the Congress of the League of Nations. At the time when T. V. Soong, the present prime minister of China, was acting as special envoy to the United States, Dr. Hoo was managing affairs at home as Associate Foreign Minister. Dr. Hoo accompanied Dr. Soong to Moscow in 1945 where negotiations were made on the Sino-Russian Treaty, which subsequently brought Russia into the war against Japan. Later he attended the Paris Peace Conference where he ably put forward the Chinese point of view.

Upon its foundation, Dr. Hoo was appointed Chinese representative to the United Nations Assembly. He has been given the position of one of the five Permanent Assistant Secretaries General, and is now head of the "Department of Trusteeship and Information from the Non-self-governing Territories." This department will either supervise or directly govern such areas as the former Italian colonies, South West Africa, and perhaps even the hottest spot in the world today—Palestine.

Here is a task which requires the utmost in knowledge, ability, and diplomatic skill. Here too is a man equal to that task.

LETTER FORUM

The Editor-in-Chief:

Circulating the campus are a few copies of an "out of this world" satire on college life by author Max Shulman, called "Barefoot Boy With Check." One chapter is devoted to a masquerade ball in which a character appears sporting a smudge pot around her waist representing "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." According to an editorial by "H.S." in yesterday's Daily, this same person showed up at the Mardi Gras. It could be a coincidence. We doubt if it actually happened. We hereby request "H.S." (presumably Herb Shayne) to desist from editorializing on sections of our hero's works.

Signed: the SAWS (Society for the Advancement of the Works of Shulman).

Sir:
It has been alleged that, because I wear a beard, I am, of course, a Communist.

In actual fact I am a White Russian refugee, and wear the beard out of respect for the wishes of my reverend father, Prince Bournoff Blockski, that I grow this hirsute appendage to remind myself, and others, so long as I should live, of our lamented Czar, Nicholas, and of his cousin, George Mark V., of Great Britain, etc.

Yours truly,
H. THEODORE BLOCKLEY.

Dear Sir:
One could not but notice at the recent Mardi Gras Ball held at McGill that there was a "disproportionate" number of people costumed as Arabs.

This should be brought to the attention of the minor officials of the British United Press without delay. I am confident that they would be greatly interested in interpreting this as a significant expression of the opinion of the whole student body on the Palestine problem.

Sincerely Socially Significantly Yours,

ASHLEY.

Mr. Alec Ross,
President
Students' Executive Council,
McGill University,
Montreal, P.Q.

Dear Mr. Ross:
At this evening's meeting of the Students' Executive Council under your chairmanship it was unanimously resolved to disassociate the S.E.C. from the charges against the Newman Club at McGill University.

The resolution, moved by Mr. Ronson and seconded by Mr. Meade was phrased as follows: "That the Council accept Mr. Hemens' statement regarding Kay McLean and that he write a letter that the opinions expressed by her at the General Meeting of January 19th, 1947, are solely those of Kay McLean and not those of the Newman Club at McGill University and that as far as this Council is concerned this ends the responsibility of the Newman Club regarding Miss McLean's remark."

I take pleasure in doing this in accordance with the above understanding, particularly as this action is entirely consistent with the general policy of the Newman Club, as of the Campus, not to accept responsibility for the remarks of guest speakers. Such is the tradition of free speech.

Yours very truly,
JAMES HEMENS,
President, Newman Club.

Ivan Knightovskii,
Commissar-in-Chief,
McGill Daily Worker.

Dear comrade!

I wish to draw your attention to two errors in your issue of today (you will remember, of course, that Article 119, Section B, Paragraph (c) of our democratic constitution makes errors punishable by the supreme sacrifice).

Your first error: you omitted to mention that N.K.V.D. means "People's Commissariat for Internal Affairs, and that—as such—it regulated the policy and actions of the McGill Union Kaveteria primarily. Furthermore, that the NKVD has now been divided into two separate sections, in keeping with the times—section I, the M.V.D. or Ministry for Internal Affairs, still being concerned with the regulation of the McGill Union Kaveteria; and Section II, the M.G.B. or Ministry of Political Affairs, being in charge of Kaveterias and Restaurants where McGill student workers eat off the Kampus-coops, Kremplius!

What is even more important is that you forgot to publish my Order of the Day with regard to the new styles of clothing which will henceforth be mandatory for all student workers: in accordance with the styles adopted at our last International C.I. Congress held in Moysecow Hall, all women are permitted to wear only kerchiefs on their heads, preferably either the red or yellow variety (it will be remembered that the emblem on our banner is yellow). The wearing of that other despicable article of headgear having its origin in the petty-bourgeois Crusades of the feudal era is strictly forbidden under penalty of the fine of 1,000 millniks. The wearing of rubber boots in accordance with the tradition set by Amelova Earhartovna, the first woman to cross the Atlantic Ocean alone, is to be highly commended, but is not compulsory owing to the shortage of rubber (the saboteurs responsible for this shortage have been removed from their directing position in the Goodrich State Rubber Trust and summarily dealt with by a People's Court). All men workers must desist from wearing shirts which have not been tucked into their pants: it was rightly pointed out at our last Congress that Comrade Stalin no longer wears his shirt not tucked in, and we should all be Russian to correct our error. Men comrades are also reminded that pipes with the proper curve to

Music Notes

UNDERSTANDING RENDITION OF FRENCH MUSIC

For lovers of French music, Tuesday night's concert of "The Little Symphony" was a real "treat." With delicacy and understanding, the orchestra under the able baton of Bernard Naylor, performed five selections by five French composers: Berlioz, Faure, Ravel, Duparc and Saint-Saens.

All the five selections were soft, melodious, delicate with the very genuine feeling masked by a quietness, by an elegance wholly French. "Le tombeau de Couperin" by Ravel and the Second Symphony of Saint-Saens showed the best playing of the evening. The "Tombeau" is a group of four dance-like movements, requiring much grace, speed, and control. The second and the fourth movements were, perhaps, the best, and outstanding in the latter was the oboe solo.

The Saint Saens Symphony had the same characteristics as the other selections played. It is soft, melodious, delicate and rhythmic. Mr. Naylor brought out all the underlines, and gave the selection verve and spirit, without losing the essential delicacy.

Miss Rose Goldblatt was soloist in Faure's "Ballade for Piano and Orchestra." She showed excellent technique, but her interpretation—though consistent throughout—lacked spirit. The entrances of the orchestra were very well managed; they are unexpected, and very soft, seeming to come out, whispering, behind the piano's part.

Also on the program were "Ouverture de la Fuite en Egypte" by Berlioz, and "Aux étoiles: entracte d'un drame inedit" by Duparc, a selection reminiscent of Debussy. "Walk to the Paradise Gardens." They showed, as did the other pieces, beauty, delicacy, rapidity, understanding and sympathetic interpretation. On the whole an excellent program, well chosen, well conducted and performed.

'Let's Beat Varsity' Is McGill's Slogan In Coming Contest

By LAWRENCE GARNIAISE

Slowly "the word" is being passed around. And as the number of students who have heard it grows, so also the very pulse of the campus seems to beat with increased rapidity. All the faces of those walking the paths inside the Roddick Gates which were at one time characterized by the expression of studious contemplation combined with youthful carefreeness, have of late taken on a mysterious frightening appearance. These collegiate "kissers" have taken on a shade of ruthlessness, of meditative sadism, of eager beaverishness which would indeed wrent the heart of an old graduate with horrible torment if he were but to see them.

Yet, to those who have heard "the word," this metamorphosis of the average McGill student's face fills their own aching breasts with a glowing warmth and a righteous determination to aid in this reconversion, this unsurpassed face-lifting, and so they go ahead and do their little bit towards the honour and the glory of their Alma Mater—they pass "the word" around, that is, LET'S BEAT VARSITY.

WE'LL BEAT 'EM
No doubt about it—LET'S BEAT VARSITY. The Campbell coached Red Senior Hockeyists haven't a doubt about it. They are going to hit the freeze this Friday night at the Forum around eight o'clock with all of the Puck Sage's know-how included with an abundance of that fighting gumption which has characterized their play throughout the season.

On the opposite side of the ice surface will be those puck-paddlers from Toronto who attend Varsity. These very same have lost one game to McGill by a narrow margin of 4-3, as well as winning the return engagement by the respectable score of 4-1. These single losses have been the only defeats of either team this year, although the boys from the Queen City have played one game to a draw against the University of Montreal.

All these statistics add up to mean that the coming encounter this Friday will decide the Intercollegiate Puck Champions for 1946-47. Let's not say directly that we want McGill to win—but on the contrary — "LET'S BEAT VARSITY."

The girls who will uphold the Intercollegiate Badminton title for McGill leave today for Toronto. The girls have all been practising hard and will be playing on Friday and Saturday morning. They will then be leaving Toronto Saturday afternoon.

Betty Evans and Helen Kiehl will be playing in the singles, playing in the doubles will be P. A. MacFarlane and Ann Merston. P. A. and Ann were both on the team last year and won all their games in the Intercollegiate meet last year.

They will be staying at the Royal York and playing at the Carlton Club—apparently it is THE club.

Intercollegiate Swim Tourney This Saturday

McGill's gigantic swimming extravaganza which is to take place this Saturday at eight o'clock at the N.D.G. Pool promises to be one of the top-liners in aqua affairs in Intercollegiate circles. Out in the competition fighting for their Alma Mammies will be teams from Toronto Varsity; that college down in Kingston called Queens, as well as a web-footed group wearing the Red colours of Montreal's favorite university.

One of the interesting features of this show will be the relay race. Here McGill has an all-powerful squad of Quale, Fullerton, Elder, and Cooper. These lads have been practicing extra hard and have managed to knock down their time to about two-tenths of a second off the Intercollegiate record in their practices. Here is hoping they can get those very blitty extra secs they need. Ace diver for the Redmen George Athans will be on hand to do those necessary smooth leaps that won him the Dominion Title.

All members of the team will sharpen up in their last practice before the big attraction this Saturday in a practice being held tonight at the N.D.G. Pool at 8.30.

Squashmen's Championship This Afternoon

The Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium, more specifically the squash courts in the said gym, will be the scene of some wild and furious action this afternoon as those pellet bamboozellers get out and do some hipper-dipper action shots in the Quebec Senior "B" Squash Championships. Four local squash clubs are represented with 14 entries from McGill, five from the M.A.A.A., five from the Badminton and Racquet Club, and one from the University Squash Club.

Seeded number one in this competition is McGill's own Bob Colquhoun. In the number two seeded position is Pierre Desautels of the Montreal Badminton and Racquet Club. However, apart from these court terrors the competition promises to be a wide open affair.

The draw for today is as follows: 5.30: Melville, M.A.A.A. vs. Wolfever, Atwater; Cordeau, Atwater vs. Ryley, McGill; Ward, McGill vs. Coristine, Atwater; Gillespie, McGill vs. Hampson, McGill.

6.00: Harvey, Atwater vs. Coates, McGill; Laidley, M.A.A.A. vs. Haller, McGill; Scott, M.A.A.A. vs. LeMesurier, A.S. McGill; Crepault, McGill vs. Linton, University Club. 6.30: Darragh, McGill vs. LeMesurier, J. R., McGill.

Red Boxing and Wrestling Crews To Fight in Queen City Matches

By LARRY SIROTA
(Daily Staff Writer.)

The McGill Boxing and Wrestling teams travel to Toronto today and with them goes the hopes of garnering their second straight championship. Observers who have seen the Red machines in action of late were unanimously of the opinion that the trophy will stay in Montreal for the next season, after the smoke of battle has risen Saturday night.

No less impressed by the showing of their candidates is the McGill brain trust of coaches Phillips, Saxon and Athletics Director Colonel Forbes. "Our boys are in the peak of condition and no weight difficulties have been encountered," boasted the trio, after watching the gladiators go through their final paces.

WRESTLERS IMPRESS
Although the Red wrestling band were nosed out four matches to three at Springfield, last Tuesday night, a bright note was sounded in that only one Redmen was pinned for a fall, while three of our hearties managed to score falls against their opponents. The Springfield team was highly impressed by the showing of Kowal, Raymond and Co. and admitted that the Canadian team gave them the toughest competition they ever encountered from their northern relatives.

Along the boxing front, things perked up considerably when coach Phillips pronounced his crew fit as a fiddle last night, as Eddie Berriault had been troubled with a sore wrist and Bill Adams complained of bad hands. Milt Orr also checked in after a brief absence caused by the flu, which kept him out of his last bout.

NEW OUTFITS

The Merry Martlet men were completely refitted for the journey as the boxers received new shoes and mouthpieces, while the grapplers were dressed up with new longies, shorts and robes.

Making the sojourn to Toronto will be Colonel Forbes, who has shown an exceptionally keen interest in the proceedings of McGill's fight world and whose invaluable experience will prove handy at ringside, where the boys play for keeps.

An interesting note is that the boxing events will be of 2 minute length instead of three and over the 4 round distance.

U.S. College Trounces St. Johns 52-31

By SCOOP PEARL

The Dawson College senior basketball team climaxed a hectic day of losses last evening at the Orlick gym as they bowed before a superior Champlain College crew from Plattsburg, N.Y., by a score of 52-31 before 800 faithful followers.

The American visitors proved themselves superior in checking, ball-handling and passing and topped his effort off with a flurry of baskets. The Dawsonites played one of their worst games of the season as their shooting repeatedly missed its target. Vern Taylor managed to notch 8 markers to his record, while brother Ken could only click for seven. The Elliot coached Blue shirt men were spearheaded by the attack of "Deams" Chambers, Eddie Rosen and Len Silks, who sank the leather spheroid time and time again.

LONG LEAD

The game opened up slowly with both aggregations playing defensive ball until Champlainer Rosen potted the ball at the three minute mark. Successive baskets by Vern Taylor, Yates and Goldbloom raised the score to 4 all at the ten minute point. This marked the only time in the game that the Dawsonites were within reach of the Plattsburgers as the visiting powerhouse pulled away to a 25-4 lead. After being held scoreless for twelve minutes of play, Vern Taylor brought the half-time score to 25-6 by sinking a long shot from centre floor.

Upon resumption of play in the second 20 minutes of play the Dawsonites drew first blood with a flurry of four straight points by Ken Taylor. The Champlainers immediately offset this scoring with a bombardment of their own. Playmaker Deams Chambers led the attack with eight markers and at the referee's time out with four minutes to go the count was 44-25 in favor of the visitors. The game closed with a successful long shot by "De Mustache," Sammy Evans. Final score 52-31.

The victory marks the twelfth of the season against three losses for the Champlain collegians.

Summary:
Dawson—K. Taylor, 7; V. Taylor, 8; Goldbloom, 4; Forcad, 0; Gearvey, 0; Summers, 2; Jones, 2; Evans, 1.

Red Team in Intercollegiate Ski Tourney

By BARBARA WATSON

With the date for the International Intercollegiate Ski Meet rapidly approaching, final preparations are being made by the Committee in order that it be one which will be remembered for many years to come. The presence of Louis Cochand, one of the leading Canadian instructors, and racers, will lend color to this important competition.

Cochand, the present chairman of the Laurentian Zone Ski School and Head of the Canadian Ski Alliance, deserves special mention for his interest and generous help in the coming Meet. During the summer he built a special ski jump of approximately thirty metres for the occasion. This jump has already been tested in a recent Zone Meet and been found entirely satisfactory by both officials and participants. Louis has also agreed to set the course of the cross-country race which will start and end at Chalet Cochand, and be about eight miles in length. In addition Louis will be host during the races to the ski teams coming from Harvard and New Hampshire as well as to all competitors and officials at the closing banquet.

WALKIE-TALKIE

Through the special efforts of Major Forbes, McGill's athletics director, two No. 58 walkie-talkie sets have been procured from War Assets for use in inter-communication and to assist in the timing of the various events of the meet. These sets, since they are the type that have a throat microphone, will be especially useful to the starters and timers, as they will allow them to have both hands free to use on the watches. This will insure accurate timing.

With three sets of timing systems, the walkie-talkies, electric timer and the usual manually operated stop watches, the times of the events will be foolproof. If one system should fail or be found inaccurate the two others will be on hand to find the correct time. If two racers should happen to finish one immediately following the other, split second timing would still be possible for both.

Intermediates Play Georgians In Puck Tilt

The McGill Intermediate pucksters will square off against Georgians this afternoon in the Verdun Auditorium when they hit the ice at 2.00 p.m.

With Kev Kennedy guarding the twine and a fast lineup in front of him the Redmen should be able to kick the props out from under the Georgian team. Jo Jo Smythe and Tommy Bridel will form one defence pair while Gordie Chalmers and MacBeck are another couple of guys who like nothing better than draping opposing forwards over the boards.

PUCKLINGS

Coach Ross Hutchings has a first line of Whizzer Smith, Joe Malone and Johnny Read, who do a good job of slamming that puck behind the opposition's goalie. McGill's second line will consist of Warren Chippendale, Billy Graham and Bill Burchmore, while Stew Geddes, Bob Layton and Charlie Hayward will form the third line. Junior Smith, the squad's fifteenth man, rounds out the lineup.

So far this season the Intermediates have played five games, winning two and losing three. They downed Bishops and St. George Williams by wide margins and lost twice to Dawson and once to MacDonald College. If the boys play according to form they should come out of today's game with a .500 average.

Dawson Cage Intermediates Edged Out

A last second basket by Red Griffith gave Central Y a 45-43 win over the Dawson Intermediate Hoopsters last night at the Orlick Gym. This victory kept the Y-men along their unbeaten path in the M.B.L. "C" section.

The St. John boys gave the victors a run for their money, as they came from behind to tie the score with 5 seconds remaining before Griffith clinched the tussle.

Playing a bang up game for the home team was Frank Ramsey who clipped the point register for 13 counts. Starring along with him was Elie Godel who chalked up 8 markers. Ross Baldwin was the tantalizer around the basket for the Y-men. He hooked in enough baskets to claim a total score of 12 at the final whistle.

The first half was characterized by vacillating play. Dawson drew first blood when newcomer Leo Dunn getting first basket. Moving into the lead under the expert handling of Godel and MacKinnon the Dawsonites were soon caught up to the half ending with the score 22-22.

In second half Nishio potted four points for the Y and sent them onto the lead they never relinquished.

Basket Babies Redmen Meet Western in Hoop Game at Currie Gym Friday

McGill's senior hoopsters will come up against a highly rated Western squad this Friday night at the Currie gym. So far the Mustangs have won two straight games in intercollegiate competition, defeating Varsity 59-52 and running over Queen's 77-23. Judging by these results it looks as if the Metras men are again going to be the team to beat for the cage championship.

However, the Redmen will be going all out in this tilt and given a few breaks, which up until now have been eluding them, they should jack up quite a few points for themselves. Already having defeated the Varsity Blues, Coach Davies crew are looked upon as a highly respected foe by the London boys.

STINGING QUO

Leading the attack for the Mustangs are two guys who can really flip that basketball through the hoop. Team captain Al Scorgie has an average of eighteen points a game, recently potting 27 against Queens. Bob Phibbs also makes it his business to score about fifteen points every game and is one of the best ball handlers in the league.

George Davidson, known around basketball circles as "Flick" will front the McGill attack. Davidson has been very effective this season and if he is on the beam this Friday Western is due for a lot of trouble.

Another hoopster who has been going well in recent games is Bobby Duford, a plenty fast and tricky guard. Others who will bear a lot of watching by Western include Myer Bloom, a fast forward right up there with the high scorers; Sammy Roth, returning to play after being on the shelf for a few games; Ken Hoyle, captain of the squad and a power on defence; and Bud Fraser, rebound getter deluxe.

12 Top Teams Play in Bridge Meet Feb. 26

Next week The McGill Duplicate Bridge Club will hold its annual club tournament with the twelve top teams of the year competing.

Throughout the year individual team scores have been recorded every week of play and the teams ending in the first twelve positions are entered in the annual club tournament. Next Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 8 p.m. the high scorers of the year will meet in the Union Reading Room to take part in the contest.

In last night's play the team of Mayer-Buck took top honors with a percentage of 68.75 and during the evening individual cups were presented to the year's top team of Harper-Thurber who garnered a total of 537 points—an average of 67.1 percent throughout.

The following teams will play in the competition next Wednesday (year's total is also listed):
Harper-Thurber 537.00
Lawry-Becker 491.25
Bancroft-Glew 438.75
Gilmore-Bindman 427.50

those associations which would overthrow such legitimate authority is the worst possible calumny.

In view of these things, the Newman Club respectfully requests the Student Executive Council to take such action as may be necessary to restore the reputation of the Newman Club and of its officers by demanding retraction within ten days of any and all unsubstantiated accusations which it has received against the Newman Club through individuals best known to the S.E.C. In this connection let it be pointed out as particularly significant that only three McGill students communicated with the President of the Newman Club concerning the above-mentioned alleged remarks. One of these communications was in writing. In each case an offer was made to discuss the matter in a personal interview and to explain the position of the Newman Club. None of these gentlemen, whose names will be furnished to the S.E.C. on request, availed himself of this opportunity. They preferred to discuss at large without further investigation a happening which none of them had witnessed.

The Newman Club also suggests that in future the S.E.C. take cognizance of the fact that the Newman Club is not any more responsible than any other club on the campus for the remarks of those who address its meetings.

In a meeting yesterday the cage team manager et al. decided that under such conditions those who wanted to see both games would probably have to miss part of each one owing to the difficulties in getting from the gym to the Forum. It seemed the best idea to start the hoop contest at the regular time of 8.00 p.m.

Word-Battle Slated Twixt Plumbers, RVC

The Women's Debating Union is holding its annual winter tea and general meeting today in the RVC Common Room.

The meeting will take place from 4.00 to 6.00 and all coeds are requested to be present.

Feature of the evening will be a debate with Ed Gauthier and Ralph Gey of the University Plumbing Department, who will attempt to maintain the rumour that "A University Education Detracts from the Social Value of Women". Barbara Rosen and Madeline Steen will defend the honour of the fairer sex. Mr. John Dando will attempt to judge the debate.

Dawson Splits Debate With RVC Teams

A large crowd turned out to hear the debate last Thursday in room 23, as Chippy Batshaw and Zaida Cupchik from R.V.C. won a victory over Lionel Albert and David Wood representing Dawson. The topic was "Resolved that Canada should adopt a more liberal immigration policy."

The Women's Debating Union upheld the affirmative.

All speakers presented their arguments clearly, logically, and in expert fashion. However, Lionel Albert, the last speaker, was exceedingly brilliant in his presentation and stole the individual honours for the night.

The second debate, "Resolved that Canada will have an economic depression within ten years," was won by the negative speakers: H. Siblin and R. Stephens. The affirmative was upheld by M. Silverburg and J. Mendelson. The judges were Mrs. Dunbar, Mrs. Pady, and Mr. Coyle of the English department.

The next meeting of the Dawson Debating Society will witness three debates. The event will take place in room 25 of Dawson Hall on Thursday evening at 7.30. The speakers and topics for debate will be announced in Thursday's Daily.

Students Meet At Varsity To Alter SAC

Toronto, Feb. 19.—(CUP)—At a meeting held in Toronto recently, Varsity undergraduate spokesmen called for a student parliament entrusted with powers of student discipline to replace the present setup of the Students' Administrative Council.

Briefs presented suggested a student executive council responsible to a student legislature elected on a proportional basis student representation on the University Caput and student control over student discipline with the Caput as final "court of appeal." An alternative suggestion was that the clarification of duties and procedure of the SAC would remove the necessity of constitutional changes.

Other briefs submitted by the various political clubs asked for a student legislature and broader disciplinary powers. It was emphasized that a student legislature was essential to provide training in the procedures of a democratic form of government.

18 February, 1947.

The Editor,

McGill Daily,

Montreal, Que.

Dear Sir:

I wish to compliment the Daily on its open minded views as expressed in the editorials. On some days it is the only part of the paper deserving of thought.

The issue of February 18th had the following statement, "We need not fear the communist doctrine taking hold as long as we believe that our students are still awake and able to decide for themselves between right and wrong." You are saying that the communist doctrine is wrong, and by this you imply that if the doctrine should be applied it would fail to improve the existing standard of subsistence and thinking of the majority of the people.

I do not agree with this implication; not from any detailed knowledge of communism, but because of the principle I find contained in it. That principle is that our national economy should be controlled scientifically for the benefit of the majority; or, in other words, that the aim or object of the application of the scientific method to economy is to benefit the majority.

Apparently you object to the application of the scientific method towards the betterment of society. Why? In the study of philosophy I find the scientific method to be the only method capable of producing a desired result. It is not true that we are purposely at McGill to study this method and to apply it?

Therefore, when you make statements as quoted above, you should prove them or show proof from others competent in the subject, so that I too can "awaken" and become an intelligent member of the McGill student body.

I can imagine some church dignitary of Galileo's time accusing a student body of that era of being imbued with the false doctrine of Galileo, and I can imagine the public reply of the students to such an accusation wherein they made fun of the doctrines just to show the world how absurd the accusation was. I think a similar situation exists at McGill today.

E. ROLIA, Science II.

Interfaculty Hockey, Volleyball Tilts Played

The first match of the Interfaculty Volleyball Schedule was played yesterday, when a more experienced Engineering six bested a fighting Phys. Ed team by taking two of the three games played. The scores were 15-8, 7-15, and 15-12.

Both squads proved that the league will be mighty tough this year as the sextets battled back and forth, with frequent interchanging of service before any points were racked up. For the Engineers, Lipshitz, Laflamme stood out, while Fournier and Wilkinson were the Fizzed backbone.

The league will continue till all entries will have met each other at least once, whence the first three will battle it out in a round robin for the title.

Athletic Night No. 3 Scheduled For March 1 in Gymnasium

Athletics Night III is to take place in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium Saturday, March 1, at 8.00 p.m. This will be the final presentation of the season, and the committee in charge has reported that close to 500 graduates are expected to be present. The final program is now being drawn up and will be announced in a few days.

These affairs have been a regular part of the social events of McGill in the last three or four years. Festival I took place Dec. 7. That evening four different teams, participating in as many different sports, were featured. From Williams College, Mass., came a delegation of wrestlers. In basketball, the McGill senior team played host to Clarkston Tech. from New York State. Boxing rivals were the local A.A.U. stars. McGill featured a squash team against McGill grads. The Black Watch Bagpipers played at half-time, and the McGill Band prior to the commencement of the sports activities. At the conclusion the Montreal Escorts provided dance music until midnight.

The night of Feb. 1 saw Festival II taking place. Three bands were presented, again with a large number of students in attendance. Basketball, boxing and squash were the main sports' themes of that program.

The committee expressed the view that this undertaking by the students will go a long way towards convincing the graduates that McGill will make full use of the proposed additions to the gym. Said the executive: "It is interesting to note the great impression the Athletic Night made on the universities who played at McGill on Dec. 7th and 15th.

"Throughout the inter-collegiate circuit, McGill Athletic Nights have become the outstanding athletics feature of the season. The Director of men's Physical Education of the University of Toronto who attended on Dec. 7 was so impressed with what he saw at McGill that he resolved to make special trips to Montreal to witness succeeding ones."

Goodwill Tour

15 Students to See Europe, Will Attend WFDY Festival

Applications for the students European tour must be in by Friday, at the latest, in the Union Tuck Shop, according to Leon Davicho, organizer of the expedition.

To qualify for one of the fifteen vacancies, the student must be backed by an official letter from a faculty, club, society, council, or other student organization. The itinerary will include a one month stay in Yugoslavia, three weeks in Czechoslovakia, and the balance of the two and one-half months in France, Switzerland and England. The whole trip should cost between $150-$250. There are several means of defraying or mitigating this expense such as representing some company, publication, or organization, or by working their passages across. In addition, since the tour does not start till the middle of June, there is the opportunity of finding part time employment for this period.

The successful entrants, who will be chosen on a priority basis, with not more than one representative per club, must have four pictures taken and will receive forms to be filled out. They will get back by the middle or end of August, in time for sops. They are also advised to brush up on their French, as only few Europeans speak English.

intercollegiate competition should be conducted on an amateur basis and that an amateur is one who engages in sport solely for the pleasure and the physical, mental and social benefits he derives therefrom, who has not received and is not now receiving material remuneration from organized athletic competition, either directly or indirectly, and to whom sport is nothing more than avocation.

3. The spirit of amateurism carries with it more than this statement implies. It stands for a high sense of honor, fair play and courtesy on the part of the participants, hosts, guests, officials and spectators. It stoops to no petty technicalities to twist or avoid the rules, or to take an unfair advantage of opponents.

4. It implies recognition of the fact that well controlled athletic competition has a marked influence in developing organic vigour, physical fitness, intellectual efficiency, moral qualities and good social habits.

5. This Committee looks with much disfavor upon the granting of "athletic scholarships", proselytizing, scouting and subsidizing in any form. It recommends that all scholarships should be considered and awarded by the University Committee which is responsible for the granting of academic scholarships.

6. This Committee is conscious of the fact that misguided enthusiasts are frequently responsible for actions which jeopardize harmonious relationships, create false goals and set up undesirable objectives.

7. This Committee urges that McGill University and its affiliated colleges continue directing their activities towards the spirit and ideals of amateurism and sportsmanship, with a sincerity of purpose in promoting interest and participation by as many students as possible in the joy and effort and in the love of the game for the game's sake. A spirit of fair play, honesty and chivalry should be maintained in all competitions.

8. (c) You Committee has found that there is a widespread misunderstanding of the accounting procedures that govern the activities of the Department of Physical Education, which operates on a separate budget, received any financial revenues from Athletics or Student Health fees. In the case of Student Health, moreover, although a total amount of $3,080.65 was drawn from Athletic revenues for expenditure on this activity during the war years, the Student Health Service was separated from the Department of Physical Education a year ago and since June 1, 1946 has operated entirely within the limits of the revenue derived from student health fees.

In order to prevent such misunderstanding in the future, your Committee recommends that there should be published in the first regular issue of the McGill Daily each autumn an audited financial statement showing in general categories the income and expenditure of the Department of Physical Education during the previous academic session.

Your Committee recommends that the Department of Physical Education take under consideration the development of athletic facilities at Ste. Anne de Bellevue to include convenient transportation arrangements.

V.
Your Committee will submit a final report as soon as possible. In
